Our goal: justice for asbestos victims and their families

BLAZING TRAILS In pioneering asbestos litigation, Kazan, McClain, Abrams, Lyons, Greenwood & Harley has been instrumental in winning precedent-setting rulings by the California Court of Appeal and California Supreme Court. Since 1974, the firm has championed the rights of clients suffering from exposure to asbestos and other toxic substances, and has produced numerous multimillion-dollar verdicts and settlements.

The firm's attorneys are known as some of the most experienced mesothelioma lawyers in the country, and have also worked on the bankruptcy reorganizations of major asbestos companies. "Our goal is to help asbestos victims obtain justice and fair compensation," says founding partner Steven Kazan, "and we handle each case with the same level of individual attention we would devote to one of our parents or children."

GIVING BACK Since 1974, the small firm has tenaciously fought for its clients, pulling from extensive resources and experience to take on—and consistently win against—giant firms and insurance companies. The firm also has its own nonprofit Foundation which supports community organizations and focuses on the international movement to ban asbestos, on occupational safety and health advocacy in California and throughout the United States, on medical research to find a cure for mesothelioma, and on increasing diversity in the legal profession. The firm also maintains an active pro bono practice.
